

Sarah S. Daway

Department of Economics
University of California, Riverside
3126 Sproul Hall, Riverside, CA 92521, USA
Phone: +1-951-329-2395
Fax: +1-951-827-5685
Email: sarah.daway@email.ucr.edu
Website: <https://sites.google.com/site/sarahdaway/>

Placement Director: Prof. Mindy S. Marks
Phone: +1-951-827-4164
Email: mindy.marks@ucr.edu

Placement Coordinator: Amanda Labagnara
Phone: +1-951-827-1474
Email: amanda.labagnara@ucr.edu

Education

Ph.D. in Economics, University of California, Riverside, June 2012 (expected)
M.A. in Economics, University of the Philippines, April 2005
B.S. Economics (Summa cum laude), University of the Philippines, April 2003

Dissertation

“Beyond Exponential Discounting: Essays on Quasi-Hyperbolic Discounting and Endogenous Time Preference in Macro Models”
Committee: Prof. Jang-Ting Guo (Co-Chair), Prof. Richard M.H. Suen (Co-Chair), Prof. R. Robert Russell, Prof. Aman Ullah

Research Interests

Macroeconomics

Completed Research Papers

“On Raising the Retirement Age in an Economy of Rational and Quasi-Hyperbolic Discounters,”
October 2011
“On the Allocative and Welfare Effects of Quasi-Geometric Discounting,” May 2010

Research in Progress

“On Decreasing Marginal Impatience and Money Non-Superneutrality”
“Voting Outcomes with Useful Public Spending and Quasi-Hyperbolic Discounting”

Presentations

Presenter: “On the Macroeconomic and Welfare Effects of Raising the Retirement Age,”
Economic Theory Seminar Series, Univ. of California, Riverside, CA (November 2011)
Presenter: “On the Allocative and Welfare Effects of Quasi-Geometric Discounting,” Society for Computational Economics, San Francisco, CA (July 2011)
Presenter: “On the Allocative and Welfare Effects of Quasi-Geometric Discounting,” Midwest Macroeconomic Meetings, Nashville, TN (May 2011)

Research Experience

Research Assistant for Prof. Jang-Ting Guo, Univ. of California, Riverside (December 2010).
Research Assistant for Prof. Richard M.H. Suen, Univ. of California, Riverside (April 2009).

Research Assistant for Prof. Raul V. Fabella, Univ. of the Philippines (November-March 2007)

Teaching Interests

Undergraduate: Principle of Economics, Intermediate Macroeconomics, Intermediate Microeconomics, Money and Banking, History of Economic Thought, Statistics for Economics

Graduate: Macroeconomics, History of Economic Thought

Teaching Experience

Instructor: Intermediate Macroeconomics, University of California, Riverside (Winter 2011)

Teaching Assistant

University of California, Riverside (2008-2011)

Undergraduate: Principles of Macroeconomics; Principles of Microeconomics; Intermediate Macroeconomics; Intermediate Microeconomics; Statistics for Economics

Graduate: Advanced Macroeconomic Theory

University of the Philippines (2006-2007)

Graduate: Advanced Macroeconomic Theory; Advanced Microeconomic Theory

Math Camp Instructor for Incoming Graduate Students

Honors and Awards

Dissertation Yearly Program Fellowship, Univ. of California Riverside (Fall 2011, Winter 2012)

Student Honoree, Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society (Univ. of the Philippines Chapter, January 2003)

Most Outstanding Social Sciences Student, Pi Gamma Mu Honor Society (Univ. of the Philippines Chapter, February 2003)

Computer Skills

Matlab, Eviews, R, Scientific Workplace, MS Office

References

Dr. Jang-Ting Guo

Department of Economics
University of California, Riverside
3133 Sproul Hall, Riverside, CA 92521, USA
Phone: +1-951-827-1588
Fax: +1-951-827-5685
Email: jangting.guo@ucr.edu

Dr. R. Robert Russell

Department of Economics
University of California, Riverside
3135 Sproul Hall, Riverside, CA 92521, USA
Phone: +1-951-827-1585
Fax: +1-951-827-5685
Email: robert.russell@ucr.edu

Dr. Richard M. H. Suen

Department of Economics
University of Connecticut
341 Mansfield Road, Unit 1063
Storrs, CT 06269, USA
Phone: +1-860-486-4368
Fax: +1-860-486-4463
Email: richard.suen@uconn.edu